INDEX TO VOLUME XII (1951)

(Names of contributors appear in SMALL CAPITALS)

Addison, and 18th century "liberalism," 560ff.

Aesthetics, history of, 423ff., 440ff., 496ff.

American, literature, 440ff.; philosophy, 609ff.; socialist literature and democracy, 147ff.

Arts, modern system of, 496–527

Augustine, and Christian idea of progress, 346–374

Avempace, and Galileo, 163–193, 375–422

Bacon, and Gilbert, 467f.

BLOOM, EDWARD A. and LILLIAN D., 560–583

BOAS, MARIE, 466–467

BOCK, KENNETH E., 599–608

Buddhism, in China, 33f.

Bush, Douglas, reviewed, 155f.

Cassirer, E., reviewed, 305f.

Ch'en Tu-hsiu, 61ff.

CHERNISS, HAROLD, 319–345

Chinese, idea of human laws and laws of nature, 3–32, 194–230; reactions to imported ideas, 33–74

Christian, idea of progress, 346ff.

Confucianism, 48f.; v. Chinese

COPE, JACKSON I., 609–627

Cosmology, 231ff.

Counter Renaissance, v. Haydn

CRUTTWELL, PATRICK, 75–89

Cultural functions, of music, 422–439

DAVID, HANS, 423–439

Democracy, in American socialist literature, 147ff.

Eighteenth Century, aesthetics, 496f.; liberalism, 560f.; history in, 295–304; v. Hume, Addison

FERGUSON, WALLACE K., 483–495

French, historians and 1848, 131ff.

Fu I, and rejection of Buddhism, 33ff.

Galileo, and Avempace, 163–193, 375–422

German, nationalism, 256–284

GERSHOY, LEO, 131–146

Gilbert, and Bacon, 467f.

Gilman, Daniel Coit, letters from and to William James, 609–627

Haydn, Hiram, reviewed, 468–472

History, and a science of man, 599–608; of aesthetics, 496ff.; of music, 423ff.; of revolution of 1848, 131ff.; pluralism in, 599ff.

Hume, as political philosopher, 285ff.; Treatise, first answer to, 291ff.

James, William, letters to Gilman, 609–627

Knowledge, problem of, 305ff.

KOHN, HANS, 256–284

KRISTELLER, PAUL O., 468–472, 496–527

Laws, v. Natural

Lewis, George Cornewall, 599ff.

Liberalism, of Addison, 560ff.

Locke, rejection of submicroscopic events, 111–130; marginal replies to Sergeant, 528ff.; relation to Addison, 561

Mathematical, way of Newton, 90–110

MCRAE, ROBERT F., 285–290

Medieval, and Renaissance as periods, 468f., 486f.; arts, 507ff.; v. Augustine, Avempace

Melville, H., v. Moby Dick
Mintz, Samuel I., 155–157
Moby Dick, symbolism in, 440–465
Moody, Ernest A., 163–193, 375–422
Mossner, Ernest C., 291–294
Munitz, Milton K., 231–255
Natural law, and human laws in China and Europe, 3–32, 194–320; in Addison, 561f.
Needham, Joseph, 3–90, 194–230, 631–632
Nineteenth Century, v. Cassirer, Chinese, German, James, Lewis, Melville
Philosophy, v. Presocratic, Natural, Medieval, Locke, Newton, Chinese, Galileo, Hume
Physiology, in Shakespeare's age, 75–89
Presocratic, philosophy, 319–346
Progress, Christian idea of, 346ff.
Psychology, v. Physiology
Renaissance, Counter, 468f.; interpretations of, 483ff.; arts in, 496f.
Schwartz, Benjamin, 61–74
Science, and English Poetry, 155ff.; cosmology, 231ff.; newness in 17th century, 584ff.; of man, 599–608; v. Bacon, Chinese, Galileo, Locke, Newton
Sergeant, Locke's replies to, 528ff.
Seventeenth Century, newness in science and medicine of, 584ff.; v. Addison, Galileo, Locke, Newton
Shakespeare, physiology and psychology in age of, 75–89
Stedman, Murray S., Jr., 147–154
Stoll, Elmer Edgar, 440–465
Strong, E. W., 90–110
Symbolism, in Moby Dick, 440–465
Thorndike, Lynn, 584–598
Universe, one or many?, 231–255
Wiener, Philip P., 305–309
Wilhelm, Hellmut, 48–60
Wright, Arthur F., 33–47
Yolton, John W., 528–559
Yost, R. M., Jr., 111–130

THE BRITISH JOURNAL FOR THE PHILOSOPHY OF SCIENCE

Contents of May 1951 issue

Articles:

The Hypothesis of Cybernetics by J. O. Wisdom

The Nature of some of our Physical Concepts—II by P. W. Bridgman

On the Principle of Action by Contact by Ernest H. Hutten

The Concept of Mind and the Unconscious by Joshua C. Gregory

Reviews and Discussions